

The Revelation of Author JW Farquhar

I became a Bible class teacher in October of 1999. It was a twenty lesson Bible class; a NavPress Bible study on the book of Romans. The "Joy Class" included about 25 adults conducted in a room of the basement of the Philadelphia Methodist Church in Fort Mill, South Carolina. It was my responsibility as a teacher to prepare for each class. I used to rise early every Sunday morning to research and prepare the lesson of the day.

During this activity I discovered something profound. I discovered that the Book of Romans was organized into the order of six questions of reason—WHO, WHY, HOW, WHAT, WHEN, and WHERE that line up with the last six of the Ten Commandments. I realized that there were only six questions one could ask about anything. It occurred to me that the last six ordered commandments of ten address six natures of mankind that lead to a 7th question—WHICH path? EVENing or Morning?

The class made a large 4 foot by 6 foot wall poster showing the six questions of reason with the corresponding subjects in Romans that we hung on the classroom wall. I called it the logic of the Reason Creature. At that time little did I know that these same questions generate the logic of the Bible's first six sentences. Little did I know that the ordered six-question-theme repeats and repeats throughout the Bible. Little did I know I was looking at the likeness of God. Little did I know that the prophet Daniel was selected and trained the same way in Dan 1:4 & 17. (Pg 205,207)

Later I discovered the six natures of mankind was part of the tree of knowledge of good and evil. When I discovered that the six questions of reason perfectly structure both the Gospel of John and the Book of Romans, I realized that this was a progressive revelation of biblical reason that revealed the likeness of God.

In the field of theology my discovery of the six questions of reason that line up with six natures of mankind is considered natural revelation. It refers to knowledge about God and spiritual things discovered through natural means, such as observation of reasoning and philosophy. It is also called general revelation as opposed to special revelation.

Special revelation is a term used by Christian theologians which refers to the belief that knowledge of God, and of spiritual matters of the Bible, can be discovered through supernatural means, such as miracles, dreams, visions, or the scriptures. It is a disclosure of God's truth through means other than through man's reason. The following describes the steps leading to my special revelation in the night.

One day in a big Church of God in Charlotte I heard a preacher give a sermon about the Creation. His version was that each of the days of creation were not one day but 1000 years. I also heard that there were giant green grasshoppers in the story of Job, which were actually giant dinosaurs. Although I could never find any reference to these grasshopper-dinosaurs, I realized that if a preacher could change one day to 1000 years, then why couldn't a single day be 10,000 years, or a million years, or 100 million years? But still something was missing from this picture.

The Creation was not the only thing that troubled me. The calculation of the beast in the Book of Revelation was a mysterious challenge. Where did the number 666 come from? What, or who, did it represent? Somehow I had connected the Creation to this mystery by counting six evenings and six mornings in the Genesis I Creation. However I was stymied on the third six. For months the thought loomed in my mind that the third six could really be 6000 years.

One night while in a sound sleep I heard, "JW count the day.... JW hear me –count the day..... Joseph I call you to count the day." I woke up startled and stunned. I felt the presence of something or someone in the room. I suddenly could SEE in a new Light what I could not see before. I cannot describe the combination of goose bumps and euphoria as the realization of the first calculation for the 666 beast sunk in. That special-revelation event changed my life.

What was important about this new understanding was the 666 count for evening, morning and day on the sixth day was when God created man. So then the number for mankind was 666. And since man was created from the image of God, then the image of God was 666 on the incomplete sixth day, and 777 on the complete 7th day. This was a second progressive revelation that reveal numerical generations of the Creation that are necessary for validation of biblical interpretation.

During the ensuing months I struggled to maintain my objectivity. I am an engineer who learned to think in a logical, dispassionate way, where everything must be proven. So I set out to prove to myself this calculation was nothing more than a coincidence. What I found brought me to my knees. Was this the God of Time who introduced His Face on the face of the Bible in terms of time—evening, morning, and day? I began to realize that my dream in the night was like Daniel's secret vision of 2300 evenings and mornings.

As my research continued, the numbers of Bible scripture connected again and again with the foundational numbers of evening, morning, and day in the Creation. I realized, of course, this was the true God of the Creation—the true God of salvation, where man is born in the spirit of evening who always leads to darkness. Of course, man must find the morning who always leads to Light and a new day. This was special revelation of the Creations secret. Of course!

But discovering this knowledge was comparatively easy. How could I ever convey this astonishing revelation that numbers in the Bible reconcile human salvation to the non-traditional image of God of Creation?

I did not like to write and I never wanted to write a book. However sometimes personal preferences and decisions take a back seat to more pressing concerns from a greater force. So my first book "The RC666 Bible Code" came to be written and published in 2007.

The "RC666 Bible Code" is a 460-page mind dump that brings together the numbers in the Bible with the numbers of science to proclaim the validity of the Word and Numbers of God. With the subtitle of "A Hidden Code Reveals the Holy Grail of Truth" "The RC666 Bible Code" authenticates the authority and power of the Bible's foundational Creation, and exposes the purpose of God's numbers.

I managed to dedicate five pages to the Cross of God. On page 327 of "The RC666 Bible Code" is a picture of the Cross of God that illustrates four attributes of God—EVENing, Morning, Light and Day. See Figure 10-11.

But, on a need-to-know basis there was too much information. So, I reorganized and condensed the content into my next book published in 2008, "The Genesis I Window." With a subtitle, "Reveals the Mathematics of the Bible," it is a 410-page dissertation and my magnum opus.

I authored and published a dialog in 2010 titled, "The Creation of Man." Although it debunked the idea of a six-solar-day creation of a physical earth, and instead, defined the Creation as the spiritual creation of man, like my previous books, it did not address the critical message from the Creation—true salvation in the image and likeness of God through the Cross.

With the subtitle "The Shocking Secret of the Creation" "Daniel's Secret" was my next book published in late 2012 on the Mayan End Date. The book is a dialog that reveals the perfect salvation as a clockwise progression around the four-way cross of God. The title of this book comes from the Bible's 2300 days of evenings and mornings in the Book of Daniel, where Daniel was instructed to keep his vision secret until the end times. Science confirms that 2300 days of evenings and mornings are 77 moon apogees. These 77 evenings and mornings are the same evenings and mornings in the Creation that are counted 77 generations on the seventh day. Here is scientific confirmation, as well as the prophecy from the Book of Daniel, that validate the evenings and mornings in the Creation as the Face of God, who is Jesus Christ.

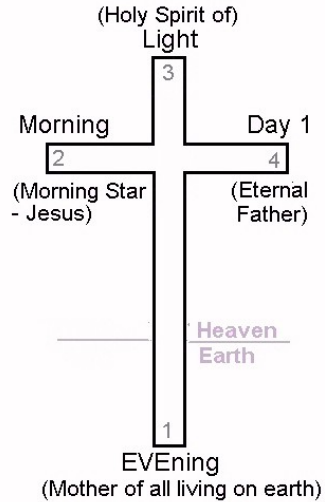

"The Lausanne Covenant Hypocrisy" was authored and published in 2014. The hypocrisy is that the Lausanne Covenant uses the Cross as its symbol but does not know what the cross means—the Cross of God as God of the Cross. Instead belief is imposed for an incomplete triune god whose name is not written anywhere in the Bible. It is amazing to think how far humans will go to protect their fragile man-made dogma. It is amazing that humans think they can sit down and initiate a covenant with God.

Finally this book, "The Doctrine of the Cross," is dedicated to God of Creation who is introduced in the first six sentences of the Bible—EVENing, Morning, Light and Day.

Author's Note:

I hope the writings in this book are not perceived to be persuasive words of wisdom, but instead a demonstration of the power of the Holy Spirit of Light: that the reader's faith in the Doctrine of the Cross should not stand in the wisdom of man, but in the power of God.

God of Creation

It is my hope and prayer that many truth seeking readers will open their eyes to SEE and receive this good news to influence and bind togetherness on the foot of the cross instead of more division.

It is also my hope and prayer that Israel may finally see the numbered signs that God provided on the Cross, so that they may fulfill their prophetic destiny.
