

It is easy to see how after their kind radiates to after our likeness.

I see. God says let us make man in our image and after our likeness, instead of naturally evolving after their kind. Does that mean that all the beasts disappear from the face of the earth?

Not according to the next Adam and Eve story. Only Adam is the first man imaged from God. See how the Bible does not conflict with science?

Oh c'mon, Moe. The Bible begins documenting mankind only about 6000 years ago. Are you going to tell me that science documents a change in the image and likeness of the beast to become a man?

Yes.

Ha, ha, ha! What now, man? What are you going to come up with this time?

In recent years much has been learned about how DNA contains secrets of evolutionary changes in Homo Sapiens.

Are you suggesting there is evidence of evolution in our DNA that is consistent with the Bible?

There is a particular DNA gene called ASPM, which originated 5800 years ago. It is associated with a brain size enlargement, and a cognitive advance with a change in behavior in mankind.

There is no way I'm going to accept this without some documentation. Here is a synopsis of the discovery from "Science 9 Sept. 2005"

The gene ASPM (abnormal spindle-like microcephaly associated) is a specific regulator of brain size, and its evolution in the lineage leading to Homo sapiens was driven by strong positive selection. Here, we show that one genetic variant of ASPM in humans arose merely about 5800 years ago and has since swept to high frequency under strong positive selection. These findings, especially the remarkably young age of the positively selected variant, suggest that the human brain is still undergoing rapid adaptive evolution.

What changes in the world happened at this time?

5800 years ago there was a sudden appearance of new civilizations in the Middle East with written language, the emergence of art and symbolism in Europe, and the beginning of the Aztec, Mayan, and Inca civilizations in America.

Coincidence.

That's not what I believe.

When God spoke let us make man in our image and after our likeness, who was our?

C'mon, Joe! Who do you think?

Evening, morning, and day?

Of course, man. We have just gone through this introductory 3-way name of God. Who else could our mean? Does God talk to Himself?

In a manner of speaking if day was talking to evening and morning.

Good point.

Man's body, soul, and spirit were created in the image and likeness of evening, morning, and day counted 666 on the 6th day of the creation of man
--

Why do I need to know myself numbered 666?

Because if you don't know yourself as a child of God in His likeness of 666, then you won't be known by God.

Where does it say that?

Jesus said: When you know yourselves, then you will be known, and you will understand that you are children of the living Father. But if you do not know yourselves, then you will live in poverty, and you are the poverty. Gospel of Thomas - Saying 3

Is this important for salvation?

Remember you were created in the 3-way image of God (evening, morning, day) so you could return to Him after 3 births in your body, soul, and spirit?

Is that all?

You were created in the 666 likeness of God so you could return to him after completion in His likeness of 777.

So that's the second part of salvation?

Yes. That is why it's important to know this.
